Daily Thought.
"Give justice before you demand it of others."

Little economies, the stoppage of waste, these are watch words of big enterprises, the objects of close organization. There is a lesson for all men in the action of the Illinois Central railroad, which notices and commends the success of an employee, who invents a device for saving 9 cents worth of crude oil a day. Logically enough the railroad officials multiply the nine cents by days. It is hidden among the details that success lies and no one knows it better than the man who manages a big corporation.

What a lovely chance is afforded the "Yellows" to write touching editorials on the filial devotion of that Baltimore burglar, who committed suicide rather than be captured and thus expose his mother's name to ignominy. This is rather an exaggerated case of the inconsistency of human nature, but how many people there are who, when the consequences of their conduct is about to overtake them, for the first time realize how the blow will fall most heavily on those, whom it is their duty to protect.

The police court character, who remarked that the new judge evidently wasn't familiar with the records of some of the habitual offenders, must realize by this time that the judge is intent on making new records for them. The effect of his action promises to be a wholesome respect for the law in certain quarters.

The awkward mistake of the Russian anarchist who killed another general, whom he mistook for General Treppoff, may cause a reaction from the European style of combing the whiskers like the emperor's. Germans probably will cultivate the drooping mustache.

Chief counsel for Harry Thaw offers to wager his soul that his client will be acquitted. Since it may be necessary for said chief counsel to sell his soul in order to get his client acquitted the wager will not be safe without an escrow.

The Panama canal commissioners complain that the Jamaica negroes have not the capacity for hard work. Probably they expected the negroes to have more of that Jamaica ginger in their makeup.

If Hargis and Callahan should decide to sue all the newspapers in the United States for libel they could do no better than to secure the services of the same jury that tried them for murder.

Maybe Judge Puryear wants the revised statutes to see whether the limit has been raised by recent legislation. He feels the need of greater latitude in dealing with some cases.

Bryan is now headed for Cork and Dublin. Bet he'll come back with the Irish vote snugly tucked away in his vest pocket and an "O" sticking to the front end of his hind name.

It didn't take the jury long to decide that the burglar, who entered the residence of a Kentucky editor was insane. He wasn't a kleptomaniac either.

An amateur aeronaut was killed at his first ascension at Council Bluffs, Iowa. This achievement places him in the ranks of the professionals.

Wonder if "Father" was in that crowd the police found "not working" today.

Harry Thaw's attorneys can testify that he has a mean disposition.

FROM ALAMEDA.

The Rev. E. K. Bransford Comes After the Earthquake.

The Rev. E. K. Bransford arrived today from San Francisco to visit the Rev. P. H. Fields, pastor of the Third street Methodist church. Mr. Bransford was in Alameda, Cal., which is just opposite San Francisco across the bay, throughout the earthquake, and the shock damaged his church. He says the city is only slowly recovering from the disaster, and that when it will be rebuilt it is proposed to lay it out similar to the plan of Washington D. C. He has come to this part of the country for his health.

LIGHT-HOUSE BY THE SEA.

This will be the bill tonight and tomorrow night. Charles W. Harrington will be in the cast as St. Kidder and Alice Lovelace as Rith Manley.

What Osteopathy Is.

The question is often asked "What is Osteopathy?" for some people have a very vague idea of this new science that is doing so much to aid mankind. Osteopathy, when well digested, is nothing but good sense and reason. It is a method for treating disease by manipulation, to restore the normal condition of the nerve control and the blood supply to every organ of the body by removing the physical obstructions, or by stimulating, or checking, functional activity, as the conditions may require. A diseased body is caused by some interference to a working part of the organism, and a correction of it brings restored health. Therefore, osteopathy finds the disturbance and, righting it, effects its cure. The methods used are scientific manipulation, and no medicines, and they are very successful.

Some of the diseases in which osteopathic treatment has been the most effective are headaches of all kinds, nervous disorders, malaria and bilious, tired down and fagged out conditions, indigestion in its many forms, kidney troubles, neuralgia and rheumatism. It treats successfully, however, nearly all diseases. If you are ailing, no matter what your particular trouble may be, I should like to have you call and let me tell you why Osteopathy will cure in your special case. I do not claim that Osteopathy is a cure-all, but am frank and will tell you what it will do in any individual case, at the same time referring you to people who know, who will gladly tell you what the treatment has done for them.

Clerk Smedley Is Better.

This morning a letter was received from County Clerk Hiram Smedley in Mont Eagle Tenn., saying that he is much better and will soon be well enough to return home. The many friends of the popular official will be pleased to learn of the improvement. Mr. Smedley has been ill of malarial fever for several months.

Benches in Court Yard.

County Judge R. T. Lightfoot and the court house committee have decided to place iron benches in the court house yard. This will also be of great convenience, especially during court when witnesses are excluded by the rule and have to remain outside the court room.

Street Work Resumed.

The work of spreading the bituminous compound on Kentucky avenue was started at noon today. Two street rollers are at work on the job and the work will be rushed rapidly. All concrete work has been finished and only the spreading of the surface remains to be done.

Hearst's Chances.

New York state Democratic politicians say that W. R. Hearst is gaining ground and has a good chance of winning the race for governor in New York.

A DISCIPLE OF FRANKLIN.

Judge (abruptly): "One dollar." Vagrant (philosophically): "Yer honor 'll never know de real value uv a dollar till yer try ter get it out uv me."

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

To the Anarchist.

Force, however its intensity may increase by removing obstructions is utterly useless unless directed. Without harness a horse is capable of exerting as much force and probably more, than with it, yet that force cannot be employed to a useful purpose unless it can be directed.

But while it is essential that we harness the horse to direct his force to useful ends, it does by no means follow that any kind of harness will do. It is a fact that the simpler the harness the less superfluous straps it contains, the greater the ease with which the power of the horse may be directed.

So with society. Without government society could exert as much force and probably more than with it, for government is indisputably an assumed something, and therefore is artificial. But that the force of society may be directed to useful purposes for mankind, we have voluntarily assumed this artificial accretment called government.

To the Socialist.

Is man the creature of environment, or is environment the creature of man? Socialism, by assuming that the woes of humanity may be solved by a change of the form of society, is in error. No person, having a bird's-eye view of the course of humanity in the past, will suppose for one moment that any mere form of society could be constructed which would give a solution of the heart-ache of life.

Is it could, then our own government would be the final word said on that subject. For if ever any movement of men had in its purity of purpose, that movement began July Fourth, 1776, did. Our fathers had no accumulated wealth behind them to influence them in their work of government form-shaping. Nothing of greed, of selfish aims were incorporated in their labor. They blazed out into the trackless, virgin forests of social truth, and gave us as perfect a form of government as strong, intellectuality, pure hearts and masterful purpose could devise. Socialism, being a proposed change in the form of society, ultimately is destined if successfully put into operation, to fail to solve the heart-ache of life, (and that is its avowed aim) like other form of society which the past has developed, has failed.

To the Individualist.

Change and decay are the laws of matter. The form of society in accordance with those laws constantly is changing. As the intelligence of man increases through the educational processes of experience and observation, improvements in the form of society apparently may be made just as improvements in any mechanism become apparent from study and experience. So that

NEW CANDIDATE WILL ENTER RACE

Talk of Organization Smash-Up Is Idle.

Governor Beckham Will Take Up Some Strong Man, While Blackburn May Run.

SITUATION IS INTERESTING.

Frankfort, Ky., July 17.—The sensational political developments of Saturday seem likely to be followed by a week of excitement to the Kentucky politicians.

During the present week everything will probably be settled in regard to political alignment, and a candidate for governor will be in the field before the week is over who will receive the support of the Beckham organization in every county of the state. Rumors are current that some of Judge Hager's allies in Louisville will try to perfect a combination between the state auditor and Senator McCreary whereby Judge Hager will be made the gubernatorial candidate of the McCreary men.

It is doubtful if this alliance can be arranged, however. Judge Hager is personally objectionable to Senator Blackburn, and rather than see the former gain any advantage in the race it is believed that Mr. Blackburn will make the race for governor himself.

All talk of the Beckham organization going to pieces is absurd. This organization is as compact and as strong as it was two weeks ago. All that has happened is that Hager has been thrown off; that Hines will probably meet with the same fate, and that Morgan Chinn will be pushed for secretary of state.

In all this there is little to jeopardize the position of Governor Beckham. The governor is not without enemies, but he is immensely popular through the state. He is also the unquestioned leader of the state organization. He controls absolutely all the patronage of the state. Both in the state central and the state executive committees his supporters are in a large majority. There is nothing whatever in the statement that Hager and Hines combined with anybody else can control these committees. The organization is friendly to Gov. Beckham, and will continue so through the rest of the campaign.

This does not necessarily mean that an interesting fight is not ahead. If a fusion can be arranged between all the forces opposed to the governor, some very exciting politics will be played in Kentucky during the next three months.

Who will be the new candidate for governor no one yet knows for certain, but the managers here say that he will be a strong man. Judge Pryor, Capt. W. T. Sills and Congressman Oile James are still the ones most talked of.

"All Bosh," Says Head.

Louis P. Head, representative from McCracken county in the state legislature, who is closely identified with the administration crowd in Kentucky arrived this morning from Cincinnati, Louisville and Bowling Green, and stated that he had talked with a number of the leading politicians relative to the reported split and wrecking of the "machine." He thinks it is all bosh, that there is little in it.

"I have talked with a number of leading politicians from Kentucky," he stated. "Quite a number were in Cincinnati when I left, and the way I size it up is that the only 'soreness' if any exists, lies in the fact that McChesney entered the race for auditor against Judge Hines. This has caused Percy Haley some little anxiety, it seems, but the matter of a split between Governor Beckham and Hager, is bosh, I believe."

"I frame it up this way: Both Pryor and Blackburn will run for governor and this will make more candidates for the nomination, and will consequently make it safer for Hager in his race for that office. I know from a personal interview that James will not run, and I am confident that the support of Hines and Hager will go to Beckham, notwithstanding what has been printed in the papers. Politics is becoming rather hot in the state and the papers have to dish out some kind of a dope. The least break will serve to bring forth sensational articles, much as this has done."

Earthquake at El Paso.

El Paso, Tex., July 17.—A distinct earthquake shock was felt here at 11:50 a. m. today. Buildings rocked and swayed and many persons fled to the streets. The thermometers and instruments in the weather bureau in the federal building swung back and forth for several minutes. No damage was done.

The police, so far, have not been able to determine whether the couple were murdered by outsiders or whether Kloss killed his wife and then himself.

IN THE LOBBY

Col. John Tramtham, the Illinois Central engineer and chairman of the grievance committee of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, is back from Chicago and tells a good joke on a clerk in the local master mechanic's office. The clerk is in Chicago for the first time, attending to business connected with the local office, and "put up" at the same hostelry Col. Tramtham patronized.

"I asked him to share my room, but he got one several floors below mine," Col. Tramtham stated. "I went to bed and in about half an hour was awakened by a heavy beating on my door. I found my friend outside. He was attired in his night clothes and had a small bag of money tightly grasped in his hands."

"They have been trying to chloroform me," he declared, and I saw the boy was badly frightened. I went down with him to investigate. I did not believe anything crooked was going to happen in that hotel, for it was one of the best in Chicago."

"We found what my friend thought was a syringe coming into the room from over the door. It was a rubber tube all right but was a conduit used by telephone men in coming in with telephone wires. He even imagined he smoked the drug, but this was alcohol the linemen were using in making the joints."

"Conditions are becoming pretty rotten in this country don't you think?" some one suggested in the lobby.

"Well, no," was the reply. I saw an honest man the other day. It was in a hotel. By mistake the clerk had placed a twenty dollar bill in an envelope, containing the money of this traveler man, and there would have been no possible way for the clerk ever to have found his mistake. The traveler found the bill with his money and simply handed it to the clerk, saying it did not belong to him. The clerk gladly explained."

Every Wednesday night when Deal's band plays on the Palmer balcony may be heard complimentary expressions from the guests about the progressiveness of the city's merchants in maintaining it. One man hearing the music asked what it meant. He was told and then asked who paid for it. When told it was furnished gratuitously by the merchants for the public he said, "You people do everything on a free-hand scale in Paducah."

"I'll get 'im. Another woman carved him with a butcher-knife, and I can do it, too."

A little woman, who waits table down town, rushed toward her husband near St. Francis de Sales church last night, nourishing a monstrous butcher-knife. Fortunately for both of them friends intercepted the determined woman and held her until the other half escaped around the table. Now they are telling horrid tales about the husband.
